Palaestra Training Partners with MeasureUp

New Palaestra Training Partnership Delivers Immediate IT Certification Results

Medford, New Jersey – May 26, 2009 – Palaestra Training today announced a partnership with MeasureUp, LLC. “Palaestra Training has teamed up with MeasureUp, one of the world’s leading exam simulation providers to give our customers the best training and exam preparation possible. Our world-class training and a full copy of the award winning MeasureUp exam simulation software is a winning combination that can’t be beat” says Christopher Rees, President of Palaestra Training. Rees adds:”by focusing on what’s important, working with hundreds of practice questions, and detailed answers, our customers reach certification in record time”. The partnership has delivered immediate certification results to Palaestra Training students worldwide.

“Companies are emphasizing the need for more skilled, certified IT professionals because they see rising demand for them in the marketplace. We’re responding by partnering with “best of breed” training video companies such as Palaestra Training, as they are uniquely positioned to develop and deliver training material for IT professionals, helping them stay up to date with their Cisco, Microsoft, and CompTIA certifications,” said MeasureUp President Kevin Brice. “By combining our leading exam simulation practice test with Palaestra Training’s training videos, IT professionals will have a cost effective solution, with a full suite of materials to help them prepare for certification and, more importantly, career advancement.”
