Palaestra Training Launches GET CERTIFIED NOW Program

New Palaestra Training program offers significant cost reductions for CISCO, Microsoft and CompTIA certification training.

Medford, New Jersey – April 8, 2009 – Palaestra Training today announced its new GET CERTIFIED NOW training and certification program for IT professionals. “In direct response to the current economic situation, we have launched a program to help the IT community,” says Christopher Rees, President of Palaestra Training. “We will provide IT certification and training videos at a significantly reduced price to IT professionals or anyone seeking to gain IT training and certification in order to get a job or to help keep the one they have”.

GET CERTIFIED NOW consists of IT certification and training videos for IT professionals in CISCO CCNA, CompTIA+, Security Fundamentals, and related courses. “Our students tell us that the best trainers create the best training, resulting in material which is easier to comprehend and understand, more enjoyable, and fun. We have a near 100% certification rate, so we’re certain that our trainers are the best,” adds Rees.

As part of the GET CERTIFIED NOW program, Palaestra Training is offering, for a limited time, a reduction of 25% from listed pricing for any individual who was recently downsized or is striving to remain employed. “We want to do our part to help our customers, and that’s why we launched this program,” Rees explains.

Complete details of the program are at the Palaestra training web site:
